MERCHANTS ON THE SUNDAY BILL

MEETING THIS AFTERNOON TO EXPRESS OPINIONS OF THE QUINN BILL.

The Merchants' Association will meet this afternoon in the Quinns' bill. A call was issued yesterday by President George W. Smith for a meeting at 2 o'clock this afternoon, to discuss the matter. Inquiry among the members shows a sentiment quite general in favor of the new law, and it is predicted that the Association will endorse it and ask Governor Carter to sign it.

"The call was issued," said President Smith this morning, "because I received the requisite number of petitions to issue such a call. The members desire to express themselves on the subject of the new Sunday law."

When asked what the sentiment among the members appeared to be Smith said that as far as he had heard the matter discussed, it was in favor of the Quinn law. "I have not yet heard of any opposition to the law in the Association, but of course it may develop," he said.

WASHED UP BY THE SEA

A STRANGE ORGANISM THROWN UP ON THE BEACH AT WAIKIKI THIS MORNING.

A very curious organism of some kind was washed up from the sea last night and was found on the beach at Waikiki this morning by A. Gartenberg. It is not known what it is yet, but those who have seen it say they have never seen anything like it before. In general appearance it resembles the trunk of a human being, in size perhaps of that of a fairly well grown child. The spinal column is clearly discernible. The organism does not seem of flesh but rather of a substance like cartilage.

When Mr. Gartenberg found it this morning he called the attention of Judge C. E. Hart to it, and the Japanese yard boy was called and placed it where it would dry, that a more careful examination could be made of it. There is no offensive odor to the thing, which is one of the strange things about it. As soon as it dries so that it can be handled it will be submitted to some of the local savants for their judgment as to what it is.

KILLED BY A CAR.

Chinese Run Down by Car On Liliha Street.

Leong See, a Chinese, was killed by Electric Car No. 23 last night about 5 o'clock on Liliha street near Vineyard. According to statements of people who saw the accident, the Chinese tried to cross in front of the car and when midway across the track, stopped and turned back in front of the car. The fender was dropped but the body of the Chinese got under the wheel and the Chinese was killed. E. R. Nieman, the motorman, was taken into custody, but was later released on his own recognizance. A coroner's inquest will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Chinese owned a coffee shop at Waipahu.

JESSIE MACLACHLAN.

Of Miss Jessie N. MacLachlan who gives a concert of Scottish song at the Opera House April 1, the Western British American of Chicago says: "Miss Jessie MacLachlan, the star of the evening, thrilled her fellow countrymen with her rendition of the Auld Scotch Songs sung by her as they have never before been sung in this city, and as they will probably not be sung again till she returns."

MORE INVESTIGATION.

The legislative joint committee in the matter of the Public Instruction investigation held another session this morning in the Bungalow. The work was not finished, as had been expected, and it will be resumed tomorrow. Christian Anderson, a discharged teacher, appeared this morning as a witness, stating that he had been discharged without cause.

ANDREWS' REPORT ON J. A. MAGOON

Attorney General Andrews is preparing a report which he will submit to the Supreme Court next Monday, in the matter of the charges made against Alfred Magoon by S. M. Ballou. The charges were referred by the court to Andrews and have been in his hands some weeks. After receiving them, he wrote to Magoon inviting him to submit any matter or evidence he desired, and Magoon sent in a lengthy brief in reply to the Ballou charges.

The April term of the Supreme Court opens on Monday, and the Attorney General's report will be presented at the opening session. Andrews this morning refused to state what the report would be.

The Supreme Court will meet again on Thursday, when it is expected that some more decisions will be handed down.

CARTER ON BILLS

Governor Carter was at work all this morning on bills which have been submitted to him by the legislature, among them being the Quinn Sunday law. The governor is being assisted in looking into the various measures by Attorney Hemenway. The latter has made for the executive a digest of the Sunday laws of various states and territories, to assist in consideration of the proposed law here. Carter has until Thursday in which to act on the law, and it is considered probable that he will either sign or veto the bill tomorrow. There are many who expect a veto message suggesting some changes in the law.
